FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR NO. 9

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY FEBRUARY 2, 1934

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Owing to numerous conventions and the frequent sessions of the state legislature, Columbus has been the meeting place of many thousands of Ohio people the past year and especially since early fall. And the end is not yet.

With Farmers Week, the big annual event for the progressive agriculturists of the state, young and old, at hand; with the general assembly once more convening; with the Ohio Newspaper Association meeting next week, and other conferences sooner or later, the influx of Ohio citizens to the state capital promises to continue unabated.

About 5,000 farmers were expected to convene in Columbus for sessions beginning Monday and ending Thursday of this week. At least 15 branches of agriculture and allied activities were to be discussed from many angles during the week, with programs sponsored by the Ohio State Grange, Ohio State Horticultural Society and many other state organizations. Programs were also arranged especially for farm women, Future Farmers and 4-H clubs.

The annual convention of the Ohio daily and weekly newspaper publishers will be held at the Deshler-Wallick Feb. 8, 9 and 10, with the proposed newspaper code as a chief theme of discussion. R. C. Snyder of the Sandusky Newspapers, Inc., will preside over the conferences of the daily newspaper publishers; Dale Wolf of Norwood will direct the weekly newspaper publishers, and C. A. Rowley of Ashtabula will be in charge as president of the Ohio Select List of Dailies. Granville Barrere of the Hillsboro News-Herald as vice president of the Ohio Newspaper Association will direct the entire convention.

Many varieties of conservationists and sportsmen will convene in Columbus, Feb. 21, the date of the fifth annual Ohio Conservation convention, to be held under the auspices of the Ohio Conservation Council. The meeting will be at the Neil House. Sportsmen's clubs, Isak Walton chapters, farm groups and other organizations as well as individuals interested in conserving Nature will meet. The annual Conservation banquet will be held the evening of Feb. 21. The Conservation Council will meet afternoon and evening, Feb. 20, and business meetings of the League of Ohio Sportsmen will be held the same day with an open meeting Feb. 21. The Isak Walton League plans to meet the morning of Feb. 21. "The Save Outdoor Ohio" Council will convene at the same time. A. F. Moon, Conover, is chairman of the Ohio Conservation Council.

The mid-winter meeting of the Children's Division of the Ohio Welfare Conference will be held next Monday and Tuesday at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel. The primary purpose of the meeting is to discuss the practicability of attempting to secure federal or state aid for child-caring programs, including mothers' pensions, and to stimulate action towards better care for underprivileged children. Grace Abbott, Chief of the Federal Children's Bureau, an advocate of federal aid, will speak Monday evening. The emergency relief situation in Ohio will be discussed Monday afternoon.

Encouraged by prospects of federal funds being provided until May 1 for civil works projects, Capt. Fred L. Smith, director of the State Bureau of Aeronautics, is directing every effort toward aiding the CWA in developing a landing field program for Ohio cities. As Ohio airport adviser in the national campaign, Director Smith has contacted officials in all cities in the state of over 5,000 population and explained to them what the possibilities are under the Civil Works program. Similar information was sent to municipalities in counties without landing field facilities. Twenty-eight landing field projects have already been approved and 60 more are pending. Future efforts will be directed towards selecting sites for new landing fields.

Only 210 of the 4,300 prisoners in the Ohio penitentiary last year were foreigners, while 147 of the total number were college graduates, the annual report of the state prison discloses. Other interesting comparisons are as follows: Unmarried prisoners numbered 1,651, and over 800 were divorced or separated from their wives; illiterates numbered 343, those with common school education were 2,943 and 860 attended high school. More prisoners were sent up for robbery than any other crime; one prisoner is serving his tenth sentence.

SCHOOL NEWS

Chaplain Speaks
Monday morning the Sophomores presented the following program announced by Harold Benedict: Scripture reading—Geneva Clemens; vocal solo—Lois Fisher; reading—Margaret Frame; quartet—Harold Strobridge, Herman Randall, Harold Benedict, and Charles Whittington; and a trio—Rebecca Galloway, Virginia Townsley, and Lois Fisher.

The special speaker of the morning was Rev. Mr. Shields, chaplain of the London Prison Farm. He chose as his subject "What's in Your Pocket" and told in an interesting manner of his work among the men on the farm.

Cedarville Defeats Ross
Last Thursday night, the Red and White boys' team came out victorious over their old rival, Ross, with the score 30-21. High score man for the local team was Ferguson with 11 points. The Cedarville Freshmen defeated the Ross Reserves 7-6 in the preliminary, but in the girls' game the Ross sextet were victors, 7-5.

Jamestown Here Tonight
This evening the Jamestown teams meet the C. H. S. teams at the college gym. This varsity game promises to be interesting as it will decide which team will take second place in the Greene County league. Cedarville and Jamestown are now tied for that place, each squad having won three games and lost one. Bowersville holds first place in the league having won five games.

Senior Activities
The thirty-nine dignified Seniors journeyed to Yellow Springs, Friday morning, to pose for the class picture. Class meetings have been in order recently to discuss plans relative to commencement.

Coming Games
Next Thursday, February 8, the Cedarville teams go to Ross for both boys' and girls' games. The following night, February 9, the Frenchburg, Kentucky, boys meet the C. H. S. boys at the college gym.

Father Files Suit Against Daughter

Casper Heitzman, Cedarville, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against his daughter, seeking cancellation of a deed, redelivery of personal property and an accounting.

The plaintiff in an action against his daughter, Georgia Heitzman, sets forth in a petition that he formerly owned property in Cedarville, which he occupied as a home, but that because of his age he deeded the real estate to his daughter September 16, 1932, at her request, on her promise to provide him a home as long as he lived and care for him during his declining years.

Recently, the father claims, his daughter took exclusive possession of the property and refuses him occupancy. He also claims that she failed to turn over to him a $670 life insurance policy check he had given her to cash, and that she will not deliver to him two promissory notes for $500 to $100, in her possession. He asks that the real estate be reconveyed to him and that his daughter be required to deliver the notes and account for the insurance money.

Sinking Fund Will Absorb Bond Issue

Because of the attractive rate of interest, 6 per cent, the Interest and Sinking Fund trustees of Greene County have agreed to absorb the entire $30,000 special selective sales tax bond issue authorized by County Commissioners, according to an announcement Wednesday by County Auditor James J. Curlett.

The bonds issued against this county's anticipated income from so-called "nuisance taxes," are designed to finance administration of poor relief in this county from January 1 to March 31. Dated February 17, they will mature in substantially equal installments until August 1, 1936.

Had the issue been rejected by the sinking fund board of trustees and the state teachers' retirement system, the bonds would have been offered publicly to the highest bidder.

HOG PROCESSING TAX INCREASED TO $1.50

The hog processing tax under the federal law was increased to $1.50 a hundred Thursday, Feb. 1. The next increase will be March 1st when the tax goes to $2.00 a hundred. Thus far the packers have been taking the tax off the hog feeder and later adding it to the retail price, leaving the packers an additional profit that was intended for tax to pay for the hog reduction campaign.

Ground Hog Day Special

Association members and all other producers will be invited to these meetings to discuss the Association's program for the future. Information pertaining to the operations of Milk Marketing Agreements for the various Areas as approved by the Ohio Milk Marketing Commission will be disseminated.

Hog Feeders Ready For New Program

About sixty farmers gathered at the school house Monday night when the contracts on the corn-hog reduction campaign were explained by David C. Bradfute, chairman.

As informed by Mr. Bradfute there is to be much detail in making out the necessary reports and considerable data must be gathered by each farmer or producer. The committee expects to open the township clerk's office where signers of the contracts can have the assistance of the committee. However the producer must have the necessary data ready.

Dr. Marion Stormont Goes To St. Louis

Dr. Marion Stormont, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stormont has completed his internship at Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, and has joined the surgical staff of the Aetna Insurance Co., and will be located in St. Louis. Dr. Stormont is a graduate of Cedarville College and Western Reserve and will be associated with one of the largest insurance companies in the country. He has been spending several days here with his parents and leaves Saturday for St. Louis.

HOME OWNERS CORPORATION HAS SEVEN LOANS UNDER WAY

Attorney George Smith, who represents the Home Owners' Corporation in making federal loans in distressed residence property, reports that seven loans are now being closed amounting to about $13,500. The loans are all in Xenia and Jamestown. There are about 350 applications for loans still under consideration.

WON SECOND PLACE

NEW CONCORD—Mary Margaret MacMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton MacMillan, Cedarville, recently placed second in the annual Weaver Bible Reading Contest, for Freshmen, at Muskingum College. Miss MacMillan was the recipient of a prize of five dollars, for her excellent reading.

Junior College Broadcast Program

Attention is called to the activities of the Junior College Broadcast of the Ohio Emergency School, over Radio Station WOSU (578 Kc.), Columbus, Ohio.

These broadcasts will be for the purpose of giving training to all interested adults and also afford an opportunity to receive college credit for those interested.

There is no expense connected with this course, except those who desire college credit. We quote the following to guide students who desire college credit: "In order that a student may receive credit at Ohio State University for any one or more of the four courses offered by the O. E. R. J. College, the student must first enroll for residence courses at Ohio State University and, then, second, following the rules of the University, he must pass with a grade of C on examination set by the responsible department of the university."

To those not interested in college credit, all that is required, is that you fill out the enclosed Students Registration Blank and return it to this office, and, be an attentive listener via radio, to the course in which you are interested.

Schedule of Broadcast

M. T. W. Th. F. 9:30-10:00—English by Prof. Robt. S. Newdick.
M. T. Th. Sat. 1:15-1:45—Social Science by Prof. E. A. Helms.
M. T. Th. F. 10:30-10:55—French by Prof. Robert Fourie.
W. Th. Sat. 2:00-3:00—Spanish by Prof. Demetrio Cabaraga.
At any of the above hours, special directions and announcements regarding any special features will be announced. For other information get in touch with H. C. Aultman, Chairman Greene County Emergency Schools, or S. O. Lanning, Xenia.

Cattle Breeders Inspect Herds

Approximately 75 people attended the tour to Beef Cattle Breeders in Greene and adjoining counties last Saturday. This tour was sponsored by the Greene County Breeder Committee and County Club Council, which is promoting 4-H Beef Club work in the county.

The tour visited the following: Jesse Harner, Kelly Mendenhall, William Anderson, William Wilkerson, William Martin, W. J. Cherry, Gowdy Williamson, James Hawkins and R. K. Haines; herds in Greene County and two herds in Clark and Miami County.

Another tour has been scheduled for Saturday, February 3rd, leaving at 9:30 a. m. for the County Agents Office at 9:30 a. m. and will visit a number of Angus' and Hereford Herds.

All boys and girls interested in either of these steer feeding or beef breeding projects are urged to get in touch with their Council Member this week. The calves are to be financed by one of the County Banks and will be covered by Group Insurance.

Antioch Cottage Is Destroyed By Fire

Fire destroyed a cottage belonging to Antioch College in Yellow Springs early Monday morning when eight girls students had to leave the building in scanty attire. Miss Elsie Newcomer, Dayton, was trapped on the second floor and escaped by jumping but was not injured. A defective flue is said to have been the cause of the fire. The loss was placed at $12,000, partially covered by insurance.

Take Inventory Of CWA Projects

An inventory of the fifty-two CWA projects in progress in Greene County is being taken at civil works headquarters, Xenia, according to an announcement Saturday by Karl R. Babb, CWA administrator.

Local, state and federal projects are being classified in three groups, including roads, schools and miscellaneous, after which a survey will be started to determine the exact number of CWA employees entitled to work twenty-four or fifteen hours, depending on their place of residence.

CWA ROAD WORK HAS BEEN STOPPED IN COUNTY

With the curtailment of CWA activities over the country, Greene county has many men dropped from the government pay roll, at least until congress appropriates more money. Road work must wait but orders have been received that work on buildings and a few other projects should be completed.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS FOR WARM SPRINGS

Lowell Thomas in his broadcast Wednesday evening stated that the 6,000 balls held Tuesday night in this country honoring President Roosevelt on his 52nd birthday, would increase the Warm Springs, Ga. Foundation, by two million dollars. The institution is noted for its cure of infantile paralysis and is open to everyone afflicted with the disease. The President was once a patient there and was cured of the malady.

RECEIVING NO CONSIDERATION

The most important group of citizens in the United States are being given no consideration by the Roosevelt administration. They are the small retail merchant, the small farmer, the small manufacturer, the small banker, the small newspaper man, the proprietor of every small business of every kind. Everything that has been offered by the federal authorities, every statement made by any of them shows an utter lack of understanding of the problems of the "great middle class" in this country.

We think that from the founding of this government until the present day the men and women of the middle class have done more to make it a great country than all other classes combined. Among them you will find real patriotism. They are hard working, saving, love their homes, support the schools and churches and educate their children. They live well on a comparatively small income. They are the substantial citizens of all small communities. Their ideals are high and their ambition for their children is great. They pay their bills and their taxes. They have been the ones who have made this nation great.

If receiving no consideration means being forgotten, then the "forgotten man" of the present day is the man of the great middle class. President Roosevelt in his campaign for election promised that if he were elected he would administer the government in the interests of the "forgotten man." He has failed to keep his promise not intentionally but because he does not know the problems of the great middle class. This is not strange because President Roosevelt has had no connection with this group of citizens. His parents were wealthy. He inherited what most of us would consider great wealth. His family were social aristocrats. He has never known what it was to work and save to have a home of his own, to get enough money to educate his children, to have a small competency for his old age. He has associated with the wealthy and has lived all of his life in and around New York City. He has had no opportunity to know the manner and mode of living and the problems of those who live in the country and in small towns. Being of a philanthropic turn he has studied the problems of the laboring class and the very poor. These he has been trying to help, but trying to help according to New York standards and his plans will not and cannot succeed in the smaller communities of the nation.

Surrounding himself with college professors and students of political economy, President Roosevelt has been led farther and farther astray in his effort to bring back prosperity in this country. What is needed today is representatives of the great middle class from the small communities who are high in the councils of the president. These people have never had true representation in our government. They have managed to live comfortably only because they worked hard and saved. Big business is always represented when congress and state legislatures meet. Concerns with millions of capital do not have any trouble employing smart lobbyists to look after their interests. In recent years labor has been so well organized that its interests have been well cared for by able lobbyists.

The members of the great middle class have never been organized and have never been represented before legislative bodies. When one considers he sees that it is practically impossible for these little fellows to be represented. They are scattered all over the nation. Each one would be able to pay but little towards having lobbyists look after his interests and the expense of organization would be great. It is easy for the heads of big utility organizations, for the heads of railroads, for the heads of motor companies, for the heads of steel companies, for the heads of any big businesses to get together and raise the money to get all and more than is coming to them through legislation. It is because of such representation that many immense fortunes have been built.

Labor and big capital are represented at Washington in every move that is made under the so-called "New Deal." The little fellows are not represented. There is no one to speak for them and even the strongest supporters of the Roosevelt administration admit they have received no consideration so far, but always say that they will. But what punishment they are taking meanwhile. But for over a century they have been accustomed to taking punishment and know how to take it.

We are pleading for consideration of the great middle class, the small business man, the small home owner, the small farmers, the men and women we believe are the "backbone" of the nation. This nation cannot prosper if they cannot make a comfortable living, have enough to support the schools and churches and give their children a good education. We are pleading for them in the name of common justice and because we know the brave struggle they have been making for the last few years to save their businesses and their homes. Surely men and women who have meant so much to the country and have never received any special benefits are entitled to assistance from the government instead of being persecuted and harassed. If the burden is made greater they will break under the load and this we believe would be the greatest calamity that could befall the nation.

We plead for the "forgotten man," the member of the great middle class; that he be not crushed between the upper millstone of capital and the nether millstone of labor.

THE WORM TURNS—TARIFF REVISION NOW

Odgen L. Mills, secretary of the treasury under former President Hoover, gave an important address out in Topeka, Kan., several days ago when he condemned the Roosevelt administration for much that is being done. Mills did pay a compliment to the NRA as a good thing, no doubt because had Hoover been reelected the Republicans had a similar plan ready to put in force. But all this was not the significant part of Mills' speech. He admitted that we must have tariff reform to open foreign markets for our surplus farm and manufactured products.

What an admission at this late date! Thousands of Republican manufacturers pleaded against the present tariff bill before President Hoover signed it. Republican orators, including Secretary Mills, defended the tariff bill in the last campaign. As a result the Republicans lost a large part of the support from business interests. Now Mills, who aspires for the Republican nomination for president, urges a change in the Hoover tariff law, that would restore relations with foreign markets. The gentleman in the White House is too wise a politician to tinker much with the tariff, knowing it is there by Republican rule for selfish purposes. He probably for the time being is content to let supporters of the Hoover tariff law continue to "sit on the blister." The Republicans have no reason to "view with alarm" what is going on in Washington now. It is the ultimate reaction to Hoover stupidity.

Friday, February 2nd, is to determine whether we are to have six weeks more of winter.

The Ohio Gang disgraced and broke the heart of Warren Harding, but no public tears have shed over what the Hoover Benedict Arnolds staged.

Ten thousand dollars was lost in fees to this state with Ohio couples slipping over to West Virginia to have the nuptial knot tied for better or worse. The Ohio law is not doing what its sponsors predicted.

By Debra Day

If there is one thing that public sentiment much back it is giving automobile drivers who are intoxicated the limit and it might not be out of place to even suggest even more severe penalty by changing the law. Two young ladies of Wilmington recently were seriously injured when their automobile was hit in a three car accident, the result of a Cincinnati resident attempting to pass a machine with the Wilmington car approaching. Here is a case where two innocent parties may be maimed and disgraced for life while the driver, even though he was intoxicated, as claimed by authorities, escaped with only slight injuries. You can have liability insurance, but that does not restore human life. Heavy penalties in money should not satisfy the law but long prison sentence with no chance of pardon or parole will come nearer causing drivers of automobiles to think about taking the road after imbibing in liquor. It probably is early yet to get statistics on motor car accidents where drivers were intoxicated since repeal. We had plenty of them when illegal liquor was consumed and it is not likely that the number will be diminished under present conditions.

Have you noticed the trend of music over the radio and the tendency to return to the old time melodies, the tuneful sentimental ballad and the soothing, dreamy waltz? We are not hearing so many of the jazz songs that had a strong hold on the amusement public for several years. There was a reason for the jazz period and why it lasted so long. While the nation was passing through the spending spree giving little consideration to the serious things of life, you could expect nothing more than that kind of music. The old time waltz with its heart appeal was in those days just one of grandfather's memories that was out of date. It was during those spending days that we had the idea that nothing but antique furniture had come out of the past. But the depression, panic or what you may call it, has given people time to reflect and see some of their mistakes. We are not going into a spending spree period very soon again. Such opportunities only come about once in every generation. Those who take advice from experience of the past profit, those who do not pay the price in disappointment in life in many ways. Public sentiment is more serious at this time or you would not find the return to the type of popular music that can be heard today over the radio.

The weatherman says Alaska took a corner on our weather Sunday when the mercury dropped from 54 Sunday morning to zero by ten o'clock that night. The storm dropped in on us from the north, accompanied by a fine snow that gave us one of the worst nights of the winter. The wind was rated at 40 miles an hour. It was fortunate that snow fell which provided a blanket for the wheat. So far the wheat has gone through the winter in fine condition.

What the small town has experienced the past few years in the change in transportation facilities, small cities and county seat towns are experiencing today. For instance we recall the days when train service in Cedarville was once boasted as all and more than most towns had at that time. Conditions changed and the railroads failed to keep pace with modern methods of transportation and we had the coming of the traction line, then the bus and freight truck, both eating the heart out of railroad revenue. Then came the time when railroads had to drop service and towns and some cities found train service greatly curtailed. Right now Lebanon, county seat of Warren county, is about to lose the last vestige of passenger service. The company operating the traction line between Xenia and Springfield wants to give up its service and place a bus on the highway.

We sat in on a farmers' meeting Monday night when consideration was given the federal corn-hog programs which is intended to cut production. Like any other government project there was much red tape and many blanks to fill out, which brings up the old story that you never get through signing your name when getting money from the government. As the different pages of blanks to be filled out were read and explained we could not help but think that if nothing else comes out of the program, farmers are getting a first class introduction as to what all corporations, and most business men must face not only once a year but several times, before satisfying the federal government, state government and the several departments under each. Our farmer friends that are to deal directly with the government will soon have the sympathy of business men, who have been compelled to face that kind of music the past few years. They may also have the experience of a government agent or inspector calling on them and asking to see their books to see whether their reports are correct.

At an early session of the Ohio legislature a bill was passed extending the terms of the present county recorders in Ohio two years, thus making their terms four years instead of two. A suit was brought in the Second District Court of Appeals and the decision just handed down holds the law unconstitutional, which means county recorders now serving are to have but the usual two year term and must run again if they desire another term.

Members of the legislature serving as a committee to map out a program of new taxes have not made any headway and have no more of a program than has Governor White. Suggestions have been made for income and sales taxes but with the federal government expected to let down the bars to include incomes of probably $1,000, or lower, this field may not be open to states. The politicians are afraid of the sales tax. Receivers have been suggested for revenue property where there is delinquent taxes. The unusual suggestion is taxing municipal owned utilities, like waterworks, electric plants, or other public service of like nature. Imagine a legislature passing a law to tax Cedarville, Yellow Springs, Osborn, Fairfield and Xenia residents on the valuations of public owned waterworks. One might as well suggest taxing the courthouse, school houses and churches. The sleeper is that most of the tax on utilities will go to the state, once again a plan to rob local taxing districts to feed a few thousand more state employees. The state now appropriates about $500,000 for salaries for the state tax commission and several hundred employees.

Much of the tax confusion in the state is due to budget laws passed several years ago when authorities were required to budget expected tax revenues. When tax collections failed to this plan failed. A sound sensible plan would have been to budget income on hand, but for some reason this was not the case and taxing districts soon found themselves swamped with debt. Let the public hold officials of each taxing district responsible for taxes, and you have solved the problem. Repeal the law creating the state tax commission and return to the taxing districts the powers they once had until the German centralized form of state control was adopted.

Ex-Gov. J. M. Cox, the father of the Ohio Workman's Compensation law, has thrown a bomb shell into Ohio affairs, with serious charges as to the manner in which the law is daily violated and how the fund has been plundered until it has shrunk several million dollars in recent years. The law has the support of manufacturers and employees in the state but crooked politics has been allowed to enter. Up in Cuyahoga county, where a county treasurer is found short several hundred thousands of dollars and nothing done about it, we hear that three indictments have been found against that number of manufacturers who failed to report the correct number of employees, thus saving a considerable sum. Crooked physicians have filed false statements as to supposed injuries. Crooked lawyers have played their part in plundering the fund. The object of the law was to protect injured workmen from fake insurance companies and employers of labor from ambulance chasing lawyers.

Congress has completed legislation providing for the new monetary system and holding of gold in the public treasury. It means a deflated dollar from the old gold standard and for a time at least gold and gold certificates will pass out of ordinary use. The vote in the House was almost unanimous and much larger in the Senate than expected, due to the fact that regular and progressive Republican senators in some cases voted with the Democrats. It was a real shock when Republicans heard the name of Senator Capper, Kansas, a conservative, recorded for the new monetary plan. The Senator is from a strong Republican state, publisher of a Republican daily in the state and several farm publications, including the Ohio Farmer. Republican politicians were no less surprised when Grange and Farm Bureau leaders endorsed the deflated dollar plan.

January 29 is the birthday anniversary of the late William McKinley and Ohio Republicans usually observe the date with a pow wow when leading party leaders gather around a well loaded festival board with plenty of oratory as top dressing. Such a meeting was held in Dayton last Saturday night, the headline being Senator Hastings of Delaware, who took the lid off the Roosevelt administration. He was critical of Republicans remaining neutral, and Republican newspapers lacking courage to disagree with the present administration program.

In the hotel lobby and chatter boxes at the Dayton meeting developed much comment on who should be the next Republican Senator from Ohio. This naturally interests Greene counties and it is interesting to hear what some of our state leaders and county captains think of the situation. Judge Matthias of the Ohio

Supreme Court was talked strongly as the next candidate, thus shutting out Sen. Fess for his third term. The argument against the Greene countian was that he had two terms and that was enough. Others said he could not expect the wet vote, only a part of the dry support, and little or none of the veteran and farmer vote. One well known Republican openly stated a new candidate was necessary and no "spear carrier" in J. P. Morgan's Wall Street army" had a ghost of a chance. Walter Brown's ears must have burned as the party big tops laughed about the missing correspondence from government files touching on airmail contracts. There was open comment that no candidate for governor could be elected from the big city counties and the endorsement of Maurice Maschke, "deposed Republican boss in Cleveland, for Dan Morgan, had killed his chances. It was agreed that the "Hold to Hoover" element in the party must be kept in the background. There was much sentiment that Clarence J. Brown, former secretary of state, should again be a candidate for governor.

There is no cause for alarm at Washington and the government will still stand. The "I and We" congressman, L. T. Marshall, informs the Springfield City Manager that the CWA program is to be continued, despite what his political associates had to say at the Dayton Saturday night confab. He says he will favor more CWA funds and does not know of any other member of Congress who was opposed. Sen. Hastings please take notice. Continuing Marshall informs the Springfield official: "However, I think We will adopt a policy of paying our bills as we go, etc." President Roosevelt must have lost control of Congress, unless the Congressman from the Seventh District included the Executive in the "We" prediction.

The speech delivered by Ogden Mills in Topeka when he admitted tariff revision would help restore foreign markets for farm and manufactured products has stirred up a great fuss among the old line Republican politicians and office holders. The speech drew a fire of criticism from Sen. Fess and Sen. Dickinson, the latter being the key-note at the Hoover convention. Sen. Fess charges now that Mills represents the New York Internationalists, who want foreign private debts paid before debts due this government are paid, and advocate a reduction in tariff for that purpose as a bait to foreign countries. Reading between the lines one must take the view that Sen. Fess no longer approves of the Hoover moratorium to foreign nations. If the old line Republicans continue to battle over this issue and the tariff they may be convinced just why millions of party followers refused to "Hold on to Hoover" for a second term. To create a more healthy future for the Republican party the rank and file should retire all the old crowd to private life, just as was done back in the days when the McKinley administration followed the second term of Grover Cleveland.

RESEARCH CLUB MEETING

The Research Club and a number of guests were entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Hervey Bailey. The program consisted of two piano solos by Miss Genevieve Jamieson. Mrs. J. M. Auld read a paper on, "The Life of Thomas Edison." He received his first lesson in telegraphy as a reward for saving a railroad station Agent's daughter. He was not a lover of art but a great admirer of music and literature, especially Shakespeare. He loved to play Parchesia. Miss Wilda Auld and Miss Dorothy Anderson sang two vocal numbers, accompanied by Miss Jamieson. Mrs. Donna Finney read a paper on Scientific changes in the White House since the days of Washington. It was interesting to hear about the inconveniences which the First Ladies had to endure. Delicious refreshments were served by the Hostess.

Eastern Star Meets Here Saturday

The Eighteenth District Ohio Eastern Star will meet here Saturday, February 3rd, Nagley Hall, with the local chapter as hostess. About three hundred members and guests are expected for the occasion.

The following are the district officers: Lucile Guillaume, president, Urbana; Alice Petticrew, vice president, Springfield; Bess Davis, secretary, Mechanicsburg; Nell Creswell, treasurer, Cedarville.

LAMELLIBRANCH MOLLUSCS

The title above may sound just the least bit dubious but when you see them stewed, fried, and scalloped at the First Presbyterian Church next Thursday evening, Feb. 8th, from 5:30 to 7:30 you will be convinced that they are palatable.

MULE TEAM RUNS AWAY; RUSSELL STANFORTH DEAD

Russell Stanforth, 57, New Burlington, died at the Espy hospital in Xenia, Wednesday night, as the result of an accident when thrown from a load of fire wood when a mule team ran away after being frightened when the front end-gate pulled loose allowing the wood to slide on the team. The team had been borrowed from Elmer and Dennis Chenoweth, who witnessed the accident. Stanforth was unmarried and the body is held for examination by Coroner Haines.

GOLDEN RULE CLASS ENTERTAINS HUSBANDS

The Golden Rule Circle Class of the M. E. Church entertained their husbands at their regular meeting in the church parlors Friday evening, Jan. 26th.

Mrs. Masters, the president, took charge of the meeting. Mrs. J. W. Johnson led the devotions. The regular business meeting followed, at the conclusion of which the committee entertained those present with a very humorous play entitled, "The Pigeon Holler School." The play depicted a day in an old time country school, the morning session being taken up with various recitations; and the afternoon session with a program of songs, recitations, and essays by the pupils and a song and speeches by the visitors. The play was one which kept the audience in laughter most of the time and was well presented by those taking part in it. The cast was as follows:

Miss Jerushy Jink, teacher, Mrs. Vincent Rigio.

Pupils: Melvina Mullins, Mrs. A. E. Richards; Lizzy Ann Mullins, Mrs. A. B. Creswell; George Crabtree, Mrs. H. Grindle; Ellen Marie Thompson, Mrs. Victor Bumgarner; Jennina Jones, Mrs. Robert Nelson; Obadiah Dingbush, Mrs. C. L. McCallister; Dorcas Dingbush, Mrs. O. C. Mitchell; Ezekiah Hornswoogle, Mrs. E. Neal; Betsey Boggs, Mrs. C. H. Gordon; Joshua Juniper, Mrs. Wm. McCoy; Maggie Ellen Murphy, Mrs. Edith Blair; Luizy Guggenheimer, Mrs. Wm. Chaney; Darius Doolittle, Mrs. M. F. Jones; Nancy Jane Crabtree, Mrs. Clarence Stuey; Jim Henry Snodgrass, Mrs. O. P. Elias; Balinda Bumpus, Mrs. J. S. West; Amos Quackenbush, Mrs. Aden Barlow.

Visitors: Deacon Hobbs, Mrs. Arthur Cummings; Widdie Crockett, Mrs. J. W. Johnson; Set-Still Campbell, Member of School Board, Mrs. Cora Trumbo.

Delicious refreshments were served later in the evening. The M. E. S. S. orchestra played a number of selections during the social hour. About 130 were present.

Mrs. J. B. Rife, who is confined in the McClellan Hospital following serious burns, is also suffering from a fractured shoulder and hip. Her condition is still reported serious yet there is some improvement.

The Cedrine Club, a Xenia social organization of former Cedarvillians, enjoyed a six o'clock covered dish dinner at the home of Judge and Mrs. S. C. Wright last evening.

The Christian Endeavor Society meets at 6:30 p. m. The topic for the meeting is "The Boards of Christian Education and Pensions of our Church."

Union evening service in this Church. Mr. F. W. Wilkinson of Cleveland is to address us on the Temperance outlook. He will, I believe, tell us the stand which our Dry Forces are taking on the Wet issue and instruct us concerning our attitude toward the State and National "set-up." It is my understanding, also, that he will call for a silver offering and the signing of pledges.

There will be no mid-week service of our church members but we shall accept the invitation of the Methodists and enjoy with them an illustrated lecture on the life of George Washington.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold an Oyster Supper at the Church on Thursday evening (Feb. 8th) from 5:30 to 7:30. The oysters will be served stewed, scalloped, or fried. The cost is 25 cents.

The "wee cans" were not all taken last Sabbath. Get yours next Sabbath morning.

More of our members and friends are joining in the Attendance, Bible Reading, and Prayer pledges. If you have not agreed to this—try it.

The Bible reading for Friday and Saturday of this week is: Acts 27, 28.

Next week we start the reading of Matthew's Gospel.

There will be a reading of the Church roll on Sabbath morning as there was on the first Sabbath of January and will be again on the first Sabbath of March.

There has been a need in our Church for some time of a Junior Christian Endeavor Society. Such a Society will be organized next Sabbath evening (Feb. 4th) at 6:30 in the basement of the Church. All children under 14 years of age should be urged to be there.

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

The Duluth (Minn.) Press says:

"That drunkenness has greatly increased since the advent of beer is no longer seriously denied even by the wets who are in touch with conditions."

The liquor traffic's main hope is now that the facts may be kept from the general public. Hence the reticence of the wet press on the subject of liquor arrests and the prevalence of drunkenness."

The New York Times, a wet paper, says there has been an increase of ten per cent in arrests for drunkenness in New York City since the legalization of beer. It also reports a sharp increase in drunkenness among women.

The Cleveland, O. News reported 88 arrests for drunkenness in that city on New Year's Eve, compared with 23 last year. No comment necessary.

We take the following from the bulletin of a large insurance company printed last month: "Accidental deaths are more numerous than in 1922. The trend is again tragically upward. We predict that 1934 will be not only worse but the worst yet! America is to try a 'temperance' experiment with liquor cheap and 'filling stations' for gas and booze everywhere. It inevitably means more highway homicides."

Drink never built a cottage. It never stuffed a hungry little stomach.

It never inspired a kiss of purity. It never planted a garden or sent a happy little girl to swing upon the gate in anticipation of father's return.

It never made a contented hearthstone or bred a yeomanry to inspire their country with sturdy pride.

It deals in mortgages and evictions. It wrenches bread from the fingers of childhood. It triumphs in blows and hate, in suspicion and fear, in lust and disease. It tramples upon the flowers, strikes the hinges from the gate and sends the little one flying from the father's approach.—National Voice.

The two evils complained of under prohibition are: that it is making law-breakers and drunkards. Both of these evils existed to a much greater degree under the old system. The liquor traffic, and the old-time saloon were always law-breakers—notoriously so—and law-breakers were the rule, not the exception. Conditions were infinitely better under prohibition than under the old regime. In fact the enemies of prohibition practically admit this when they denounce the saloon and say they are not in favor of its return.—The National Voice.

COLLEGE NEWS

This morning at 10 o'clock in the Presbyterian Church the Day of Prayer for Schools and Colleges. The College and High-School of Cedarville are uniting in this service. All friends of both schools are invited to come.

Good music under the direction of Margaret Jamieson Work will be rendered by the College quartettes and choruses. The sermon will be given by Rev. Jesse Halsey, D. D., minister to the Synodical Presbyterian Church, one of the largest of Cincinnati's Churches.

Home Coming

Tomorrow, Saturday evening, at 5:30 o'clock in the Alford Gymnasium, the annual Home Coming dinner will be served by the Women's Advisory Board of Cedarville College. The price for a plate and admission to the big basketball game following the dinner is only 35 cents. All proceeds of the dinner go to help furnishing the interior of Cedarville College. The College will appreciate your patronage. To reserve your plates, please call phone number 17 Cedarville, today or buy your ticket of the students selling them. We need your help and you will enjoy our dinner and the game. Defiance College is coming with the express purpose of winning the game. They have a good team. So has Cedarville College. Our Yellow Jackets will do their best to win. Come to the dinner and the game.

Board Meeting

Semi-Annual Board of Trustees of Cedarville College meeting is in the College office this afternoon at 1:30 p. m. Reports of the meeting will be given next week.

Dr. Cotton

Thanks to Rev. Guthrie and Miss Basore, the College faculty and students enjoyed several meetings with Dr. Harry Cotton of the Broad Street Presbyterian Church, Columbus, Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Rabbi Tarshish

The D. A. R. did a good thing in giving Cedarville the opportunity to hear Rabbi Tarshish in the Opera House Wednesday night. The College faculty and students are grateful that he was brought here. We have had two good treats in hearing Dr. Cotton and Rabbi Tarshish this week.

We look for another splendid treat this morning in hearing Dr. Halsey. Then still another awaits us tomorrow evening in the gymnasium, when we sit down together to that Home Coming Dinner and after that watch Cedarville College and Defiance College each do their best to win the game.

RABBI JACOB TARSHISH HERE FOR LECTURE WEDNESDAY

Rabbi Jacob Tarshish, Columbus, noted radio speaker, appeared at the opera house Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Cedar Cliff Chapter, D. A. R. His subject was "In Which Direction Is America Moving?"

The speaker handled his subject from the social, moral and economic standpoint, comparing present conditions, what we have experienced to the times of the past when the families of the nation owned their homes, farms, provided their own food and clothing. When the machine age arrived then came great cities and the population of urban centers had to depend on others for food and clothing. Today 40 per cent of the population is in control of 80 per cent of the wealth of the country. He pictured that the average man did not want charity but a chance to work for his living and that was what was being attempted to day in Washington. There will be mistakes but we are moving in the right direction. He touched on religion as always having experienced jealousy and hatred between sects but America was founded on freedom of religion and we should heed the injunction to

"Love Thy Neighbor as thyself."

Mr. and Mrs. Ancil Wright had invited guests at dinner honoring the bride were ushers.

The bride wore a gown of blue crepe, white satin hat, with small veil and white slipper and carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses. Following the ceremony a lovely three-course luncheon was served to forty relatives and friends, at tables beautifully decorated with roses.

Following the reception and luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Joyner left for their new home at 322 Edgewood avenue, Dayton, O., where Mr. Joyner is employed as chemist for the Frigidaire corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Tomlinson, and daughters, Ruth and Faith, and son, Paul, of Waynesville, O., attended the wedding.

Mr. Milton Bratton has been confined to his home for some time suffering with heart trouble.

Mr. J. Lloyd Confar spent several days in Chicago last week in the interest of The Hagar Straw Board & Paper Co.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hopping entertained a number of friends at dinner last Friday evening.

MISS FLORENCE TOMLINSON WEDS CHARLES E. JOYNER

Miss Florence Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tomlinson, Plymouth, Ind., former residents of this place, became the bride of Charles E. Joyner, New Castle, Ind. The ceremony took place last Saturday in the First M. E. Church, Plymouth. Rev. Henry V. Deale, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Kathleen Tanner, a niece of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Hildreth Seifert of Indianapolis and Miss Helen Baker of Chicago were bridesmaids. Harry Joyner, New Castle, was best man and Paul Tomlinson, brother of the bride, and James Davison of Indianapolis, were groomsman. Dale and Robert Tanner and Tom Rullman, nephews of the bride were ushers.

The ceremony took place last Saturday in the First M. E. Church, Plymouth. Rev. Henry V. Deale, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Kathleen Tanner, a niece of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Hildreth Seifert of Indianapolis and Miss Helen Baker of Chicago were bridesmaids. Harry Joyner, New Castle, was best man and Paul Tomlinson, brother of the bride, and James Davison of Indianapolis, were groomsman. Dale and Robert Tanner and Tom Rullman, nephews of the bride were ushers.

The bride wore a gown of blue crepe, white satin hat, with small veil and white slipper and carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses. Following the ceremony a lovely three-course luncheon was served to forty relatives and friends, at tables beautifully decorated with roses.

Following the reception and luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Joyner left for their new home at 322 Edgewood avenue, Dayton, O., where Mr. Joyner is employed as chemist for the Frigidaire corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Tomlinson, and daughters, Ruth and Faith, and son, Paul, of Waynesville, O., attended the wedding.

Mr. Milton Bratton has been confined to his home for some time suffering with heart trouble.

Mr. J. Lloyd Confar spent several days in Chicago last week in the interest of The Hagar Straw Board & Paper Co.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hopping entertained a number of friends at dinner last Friday evening.

Ask Court To Divert Funds

Permission to divert $534 from the gasoline tax fund to pay the material and equipment cost in connection with a school playground CWA project at Yellow Springs is sought in an application filed in Common Pleas Court by the Miami Twp. board of trustees.

The project, under township auspices, would furnish work for twenty jobless men for thirteen weeks, relieving trustees of the responsibility for providing general poor relief for these particular individuals, according to the application, which has been assigned for a hearing at 9 a. m. February 5. The manual labor involved would include excavating and grading to provide improved playground facilities for children of the joint Yellow Springs-Miami Twp. rural school district.

COFFMAN & DEAN TO HOLD PUBLIC SALE FEBRUARY 15

J. M. Coffman, tenant on the Ed Dean farm, Yellow Springs, Cedarville pike, with Mr. Dean, will hold a public sale on Thursday, February 15th. Mr. Coffman has rented the A. B. Brewer farm and the sale is to settle the partnership. Robert Bogan, Spring Valley, will move to the Dean farm.

Hatchability Is Affected By Feed

More Fertile Eggs Laid By Hens Fed Green Feed, Milk and Oil

Because proper sorts of feed for the poultry flock influence the hatchability of eggs, some hatcheries in Ohio pay premiums to poultrymen whose eggs hatch the most chicks, according to R. E. Cray, extension specialist in poultry husbandry for the Ohio State University.

Hatchability of eggs depend in part upon three factors which are under the control of all poultrymen. More fertile eggs are obtained from flocks fed a green food, milk, and supplied vitamin D, says Cray.

Green food may be supplied either in the form of alfalfa or soybean hay, or by adding alfalfa leaf meal to the dry laying mash.

Feeding both milk and green food sometimes increases the proportion of eggs that hatch as much as 10 or 12 per cent. Feeding one and not the other increases hatchability slightly.

Vitamin D may be supplied either in cod liver oil or by submitting the flock to direct rays from the sun on a winter range. Fed even to birds on the range, cod liver oil beneficially affects hatchability.

Oil must be fed to birds near smoky cities. Smoke clouds interfere with the ultra-violet rays, so that minerals in the ration cannot be assimilated, experiments have shown.

These special feeding precautions should be observed at least three weeks before eggs are to be saved for hatching.

GOLD CLIP WATCH

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The ever faithful wrist time-piece has a rival. It is the new clip watch, if you please. See it in the picture, clipped at the pointed neckline of an exceedingly good-looking sports dress. The material for this smart gown is a heavy plaided flannel wool. Oh, serve the sports bracelets done in two-tone gold. They are a last word in chic. The clip setting for the watch is also gold. For a high-style touch, be sure to wear gold sports jewelry with your midseason wool frock.

Lesson for February 4

PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:1-24. GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you. Matthew 6:33. PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Tells of God's Care. JUNIOR TOPIC—In Search of Riches. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Setting One Master Only. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting First Things First.

Having set forth in the previous chapter the standards of the kingdom, Christ the king now exhibits the underlying principles which control the subjects of the kingdom.

1. As to Giving (vv. 1-4). Doing alms before men is not condemned as that would, contradict Matthew 6:16, but the doing of them before men to be seen of them. To seek publicity in doing our alms is to miss the reward of the heavenly Father.

2. As to Praying (vv. 5-15). The spirit of self-advertisement frequently displays itself even in the holy exercise of prayer. In order to correct this tendency he sets forth:

a. False prayer (vv. 5, 7). This consists in:

a. Praying to be seen and heard of men (v. 5). Many of the prayers uttered in public are false, for the thing uppermost in the mind of the one praying is what the people think rather than what God thinks.

b. Using vain repetitions (v. 7). This does not mean that we should ask but once for a given thing. We have examples of both Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt. 26: 39-46; II Cor. 12:7, 8). It means rather the using of meaningless repetitions.

2. True prayer (v. 9). Since real prayer is a transaction of the soul with God, there should be a real desire for fellowship with him which moves one to meet him in the secret place.

3. The model prayer (vv. 9-13). This involves:

a. Right relationship—"Our Father" (v. 9). Before one can pray so as to be heard he must, through the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit, become a child of God.

b. The right attitude—"Hallowed be thy name" (v. 9, 10). While God is our heavenly Father he is more than that. He is the Almighty. We should go before him then with reverent adoration.

c. A right spirit—"Give us this day our daily bread."—"Forgive us our sins."—"Lead us not into temptation" (vv. 11-13). Those who would pray effectively must have such faith as would trust him for daily bread, and such love as would forgive those sinning against them, and such hatred of evil as to desire not to be led into temptation.

III. As to Fasting (vv. 16-18). The true reason for fasting is to be found in the opportunity it gives for a clear vision of God.

IV. As to Earthly Riches (vv. 19-24). The Lord knew the temptations which would befall his children in their pilgrimage and the anxiety to which they would lead; therefore he set forth the proper attitude toward earthly possessions.

1. The nature of earthly riches (vv. 19-21).

a. They are uncertain (vv. 19, 20). Earthly treasures corrode, and may be taken from us.

b. They are seductive (v. 21). Christ called riches deceitful (Matt. 13:22). It is not wrong to possess earthly treasures, but when earthly treasures possess us they become a snare unto us.

2. The effect of earthly riches (vv. 22-24).

a. They blunt the moral and spiritual perceptions (v. 22, 23). Those who become enamored with the things of the world soon become irresponsible to spiritual things.

b. They render service null and void (v. 24). As soon as one's heart is stolen by riches, he is unfitted for spiritual service.

V. As to Faith in the Heavenly Father (vv. 25-34).

1. Be not anxious about food and clothing (vv. 25-32). To be filled with anxiety concerning food and clothing:

a. Shows distrust of God (v. 30).

b. It is useless (v. 31). Anxiety brings us absolutely nothing.

c. It is heathenish (v. 32). Those who know God as the loving Father will be free from anxious care.

2. Be sincerely anxious to seek the kingdom of God and serve him (vv. 33, 34). This means that world affairs should be subordinated to spiritual affairs.

Friendship

No matter how prominent or how numerous the advocates of error may be, that is no reason why you should espouse it. Personal friendship is one thing, friendship for error is quite another thing.

God's Name

As Philias contrived his mechanism so that his memory could never be obliterated without the destruction of his work, so the great name of God is interwoven in the texture of all that he has made.
